Forecast For East of England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Wednesday 07 Jul 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Any showers quickly fading to leave a mostly dry night.

This Evening and Tonight:
Any showers dying away quickly through the evening with the cloud thinning and clear spells developing before midnight. This will allow the odd mist or fog patch to form in some rural areas before dawn. Minimum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Thursday:
Clear spells at first with short-lived mist and fog patches. Scattered showers developing, perhaps turning heavy or thundery over East Anglia. Showers dying out towards evening. Light winds. Maximum temperature 22 deg C (72 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Staying unsettled, with further sunny spells and showers throughout, these are likely to be heavy or thundery at times. However, some places will escape likely dry. Temperatures mostly near normal.
